Sri Swarnapureeswarar Temple, Sembanarkoil

This is the 159th Thevara Paadal Petra Shiva Sthalam and the 42nd sthalam on the south side of river Kaveri in Chozha Nadu. This place was called Thiruchemponpallai during the 6th to 7th Century and is now called Thiruchampalli / Sembanarkoil. In Periyapuramam Sekkizhar records that Thirugnanasambandar came to this temple after worshipping Lord Shiva of Mayiladuthurai. But Thirunavukkarasu Swamigal came from Thiruvengadu. Sekkizhar mentions only 7 temples but the Periyapuramam indicates 17 temples, from Thiruvallampuram to Kodika / Thirukozhambam, and this place is mentioned as other temples.

Moolavar : Sri Swarnapuriswarar, Sri Devapriyar, Sri Sornalakshmeesar, Sri Chemponpalliyar.

Consort : Sri Maruvur Kuzhali, Sri Pushpazhaki, Sri Thaakshiyayini, Sri Suguntha Kunthalambigai, Sri Suguntha Vananayagi.

Some of the important features of this temple are as follows.

This is one of the Mada temples constructed by Ko Chenkat Chozhan. The temple is facing east with an entrance arch. There is no Dwajasthambam and Rajagopuram. Balipeedam and Rishabam are in front. Moolavar is on a round avudayar with 16 lotus petals on top and bottom. In Koshtam, Indra Ganapathy, Dakshinamurthy, Arthanareeswarar and Durgai. Dwarapalakas are in the artha mandapam. In Sthapana mandap Urchavars Somaskandar, Natarajar, Chandrasekar and Pichadanar. In Maha mandapam Vinayagar, Surya and Chandra Lingas and Subramaniam. A bas-relief of a monk and a King worshipping Lord Shiva is on the south wall. In Prakaram Prakasa Pillayar, Vanadurgai, Viswanathar, Srinivasa Perumal, Sibi Kaatchinathar with maan and mazhu, Balasubramaniam with Rudraksha mala and holding Sakthi ayutham/ weapon, Gajalakshmi, Jyeshtha Devi, Veerabhadra, Suriyan and Bhairavar.

Ambal is in a separate temple facing south. It was told that Ambal is facing south since, Ambal is proceeding to the Pariyalur Shiva temple, which is on the southwest of this temple where Dakshan was performing a Yagna. Sathakannish temple is on the southwest of Ambal temple.

Chidambaram Swamigal has also sung in praise of Lord Muruga of this temple in his Kshetra Kovai Pillai Thamizh.

The sanctum sanctorum consists of sanctum antarala and artha mandapam. An eka thala vesara Vimana is on the sanctum Sanctorum. Bas relief of King worshipping Lord Shiva and on his both sides are a monk and a minister.

HISTORY AND INSCRIPTIONS

It is believed that this temple was built during Ko Chengat Chozha. Based on the iconography of the Jyeshtha Devi, it is presumed that this temple might have been reconstructed during Aditha Chozha (879 – 907 CE), which is mentioned in the Sthala Purana. There are Six inscriptions recorded from this temple. They belong to Kulothunga Chozha-III, Rajathirajan and Thanjavur Saraboji Maharaja.

Rajathirajan's 5th reign year inscription records the gift of land to Shiva Temple of Thiruvallangadu, by the Thiruvilanagar alias Nithavonotha Chathurvedi Mangalam Vila Ndu Sabhai / assembly.

Shrimad Bhagavad Gita - The Unmatched Poem

'Shrimad Bhagavad Gita' is an Indian invaluable gift given verbally by God to the mankind of the entire world. Bhagavad Gita alone is the supreme scripture of knowledgewhich is called 'the crown jewel among all the scriptures'. It is such an extraordinary creation, which is accepted as having been 'spoken by God'. There was a lot of importance of this creation compiled by Ved Vyas in the past and it is very popular in the present too. It is because this scripture isn't just the means of religious preaching like the other scriptures; rather it also contains the solution to political, social, religious and personal problems.

The Gita is certainly at the best position to attract many scholars, pundits and philosophers of not just the Indian culture but even at the international level. This knowledge of Bharat has gained popularity in the entire world but this knowledge is given less importance in Bharat itself. Despite being the religious scripture of the Ancient Religion, the very followers of this religion are away from this knowledge.

The Gita is just wrapped in a cloth and worshipped. The knowledge that is bound benefits no one. Just like a flowing river is beneficial as compared to stagnant water, in the same way, studying the knowledge of the Gita is very important for every individual. Just the body can be cleansed with the water of the Ganges but even the dirty mind is cleansed with the knowledge of the Gita.

However, over a period of time, the learned men and scholars manipulated the great sentences of God to great extent by coming up with poisoned interpretations of the nectar like Gita. Its very proof is the many commentaries of the Gita. Today, there is no scripture on which commentaries would have been made to the extent commentaries have been made on the Gita. And the greatest wonder is that one commentary cuts another commentary. Even after this, the popularity of the Gita hasn't decreased.

However, is the Shrimad Bhagavad Gita really so great? The Gita that has the capacity to connect human beings to God, has it been able to connect humans being to humanity today? Was the Gita successful to irrigate the present generation with ancient cultures and nourish them with real religious sensations and thoughts? Isn't the Gita, the mother and father of all the religious scriptures responsible for the bloodshed of other creatures along with the human beings following the ostentations of various religions and religious scriptures? Many points like this always put a question mark on the capability of the Gita.

If the lovers and followers of the Gita are asked the reason for the present situation of the society, probably, they will find the other religions and their founders guilty or consider the western culture and science to be responsible. But our ancient culture permits us to think about the self which is the ladder to progress; not thinking about others [i.e.] the root of degradation.

That is why, before considering other religions or the western culture guilty, we will have to analyse the capability of our cultures. We will have to find shortcomings in the present studies and commentaries made by humans about the Gita because the main reason of degradation is hidden in these very commentaries made by humans.

Come, let us try to realize the failure of the Gita. The author is solely responsible for this article. The publisher or editor are not responsible.

Clear garbage dump

Heavy household waste materials dumped on footpaths causing inconvenience for the residence. With the authorities turning a blind eye not clearing the dumped materials on time it is found on Rangarajapuram Main Road, Kodambakkam. Such violation is rampant on internal roads and dumping construction materials and garbage has reduced the road width.

It is found almost half of the road has been encroached upon, causing inconvenience to the public.

Residents wonder how the civic body never bothered to keep roads in the locality encroachment-free. Dumping of debris and construction materials on pavement and roadside has become commonplace in the locality, highlighting the negligent attitude of the owners, says Dhanapal, a resident of Umapathy Street.

NEED REPLACEMENT : Sign Board seen in the picture is Arcot Street, T Nagar. When roads become higher and higher old Cement sign boards getting shorter its time to change where ever it is necessary.

Vacant land a place for dumping

Indiscriminate dumping of solid waste and construction debris on vacant plots continues in the residential areas despite repeated appeals by civic authorities to owners of unused land to keep their premises clean. The owners of vacant plots continue to flout the directives of civic bodies giving room for the public to dump waste and debris. Lack of proper maintenance of such unused lands leads to growth of shrubs which gradually become a haven for rodents, say residents.

People were dumping waste and debris on vacant plots unmindful of the damage it caused to the surrounding areas. It is not only the owner to be blamed. It is the duty of the owner to ideally keep the premises clean and fence the property. The property Akbarabad, 1st Street, Kodambakkam is partially fenced but locals dump garbage into it. People also have to be blamed for dumping waste indiscriminately.

Most of the streets, dustbins are kept for people to drop the waste. Even if the bins are not outside the house, people can always walk to the street corner to dump household waste. Even if a vacant plot is there in the locality, it does not mean we can use the space as a dumpyard, says Raja, a long time resident.

The responsibility to maintain the premises free of thick vegetation, entirely lies with the owner of the property. When new houses get constructed, the waste is dumped on nearby vacant plots and the debris never gets cleared. This is one of the main reasons for the spread of vector-borne diseases since water gets trapped in the waste and mosquitoes multiply, opine residents.

Civic body used to conduct special drives before the monsoon to inspect empty plots. But now, there is laxity on the part of the civic authorities to keep a check on proper maintenance of vacant plots, they added.

Unused telephone box in Arulambal Street, T Nagar should be replaced with new one are if not in use it should be removed. Will the concern authorities do it.

Danger lurks on one-way VN Road

Venkatanarayana Road in T Nagar a stretch officially designated as a one-way since last year, is becoming increasingly dangerous due to rampant traffic violations. Commuters and residents report frequent instances of vehicles - from two-wheelers to heavy trucks - flouting the one-way rule and driving against traffic.

'It's a daily hazard', said Rama, who comes for a walk every day. 'You have to keep looking in all directions while crossing. One moment it's bike, next it's a truck coming straight at you, on a one-way street', he said. Most of those who travel in the wrong direction are usually in a rush to reach Anna Salai. Instead of taking the longer route via Dhandapani Street, Burkit Road and CIT Nagar, many prefer to take a shortcut by going against traffic. Similarly, some vehicles heading towards Pondy Bazaar drive in the wrong direction on V N Road and then turn into Kannadasan Street.

Locals says that police presence is minimal, especially

Devotees perform special worship in temples

On the first day of Chithirai, Tamil New Year, devotees performed special prayers in Vadapalani Murugan temple.

Every year, the Tamil New Year is celebrated on the 1st day of the month of Chithirai. In that way, the Tamil New Year is celebrated by Tamils all over the world. On the occasion of Tamil New Year the temple was decorated with electric lights and special darshans were arranged in the temples.

Vadapalani Murugan Temple was opened at 4 am on 14th Monday. The temple puja was held at 4.30 am. Following this, devotees were allowed to have darshan from 5 am. Later, at 11 am, the Palabhishekam was performed for Lord Muruga. After the Malai Abhishekam was completed, the Pushpa Anki was applied. Devotees had darshan of Lord Muruga till 10.30 pm.

Since a large number of devotees visited the temple during the Tamil New Year, various arrangements were made by the temple management for the devotees at the Vadapalani Murugan Temple.

On the first day of the Theppam festival held at the Vadapalani Murugan Temple on the occasion of Pang Kuni Uttara, Lord Murugan blessed the devotees who rose in the Theppam.

Prasad was offered throughout the day in the temple. Moreover, for the convenience of the devotees, a pavilion was built 600 feet away to withstand the scorching summer heat, and cold water and milk were provided from morning to evening.

Vishu was celebrated in grand manner at Ayyappan Temple, Mahalingapuram on Monday.

Under flyovers, a green promise wilts in neglect in Chennai

The wilted plants numbering over 200 under the bridge near North Usman Road, T Nagar is a silent testimony of crores of rupees of public money wasted under smart city project. Procured for at an exorbitant cost of 1,100 per plastic 'pot', including the plant, mud, maintenance and labour charges, the underspace of the bridge is anything but green today.

Between 2019 and 2021 the Greater Chennai Corporation set up vertical gardens under 14 flyovers at a cost of 8 crore and the North Usman Road bridge's underspace on T Nagar was one among them.

As the contractor eventually abandoned the maintenance, the plants have withered now. Experts said the GCC should set up simple plants like wall-crawlers and climbers. Who has worked in various greening projects with TN government, said vertical gardens are unnecessary commercialization of greenery. 'We have plants that can naturally grow on wall and cost less, like herbal florals, and even money plants. "Why should we spent on cup-based plants', he questioned.

He added that dust-accumulation and lack of adequate sunlight could lead to the plants withering off early.

The residents said that the drip pipe too could get clogged resulting in water not reaching the plant. Secondly, beneath the flyovers, they have to set up shade loving plants but there is a mismatch in species. Secondly, there is poor maintenance', he added.

Overflowing sewage a major impediment

Overflowing sewage and contamination of drinking water is posing a health hazard to residents of United India Colony, Kodambakkam. Most of the residents say lack of proper drainage system is the main cause for the problem.

It is very common to see sewage stagnating on the road, which is because of poor construction of sewage chambers and frequent blockage in the pipeline, says Shanmuga Sundaram a long time resident. The stagnated sewage serves as a breeding ground for the mosquitoes. As mosquito menace has increased to alarming proportions, most of us keep our windows and doors closed, he added.

Residents in the locality are forced to endure stagnant pools and a very few complain about sewage mixing with drinking water stored in sumps. Residents lament that during monsoon, sewage gets mixed with rainwater due to overflowing drainage channels. They say that repeated complaints to Metrowater and Chennai Corporation to clear the overflowing sewage have fallen on deaf ears.

We have made repeated representations asking the Chennai Corporation and Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board officials to restore the clogged drain. No action has been taken till date, the residents allege. Action must be taken to prevent sewage water from leakage at regular intervals of time. Steps must be taken to improve the drainage system in the street, laments residents.

during peak hours. 'Enforcement is practically nonexistent', said Sundar. A software professional who works at a IT firm on the road. Residents also shared concerns about the lack of proper signage and barricading. 'There needs to be some deterrent -fines, checkpoints, or even barricades. It's inconvenient and dangerous', said Mala Krishnan, a resident.

A senior traffic enforcement officer said that violators are being fined during morning peak hours and assured that stricter enforcement measures will soon be implemented to curb the problem.
