Sri Natrunaiappar Temple, Thirunanipalli

This is the 160th Thevaram paadal Petra Shiva Sthalam and the 43rd Sthalam on the south side of river Cauvery in Chozha Nadu. The place was called Thirunanipalli during the 6th to 7th Century and is now called Ponsei. This is the birthplace of Thirugnanasambandar's mother Bhagavathy. This is one of the 44 Temples, where Moovar, Thirugnanasambandar, Thirunavukkarasu Swamigal, and Sundarar, have sung hymns in praise of Lord Shiva of this temple.

In Periyapuram, Sekkizhar records that Thirugnanasambandar came to this temple after worshipping Lord Shiva of Thirupungur and Thirunavukkarasu Swamigal came to this temple after worshipping Lord Shiva of Thirunindiyur. Thirugnanasambandar, Thirunavukkarasu Swamigal, Sundarar, and Vallalar has sung hymns in praise of Lord Shiva of this temple. It is believed that Thirugnanasambandar has sung this hymns sitting on the shoulders of his father and the same was mentioned in his hymns.

Moolavar : Sri Natrunaiappar, Consort : Sri Parvatha puthiri.

Some of the features of this temple are as follows. The temple faces east with an entrance arch. Panchamurtis stucco images, Vinayagar, Murugan, Lord Shiva with Ambal as Rishabaroodar, Ambal, and Dakshinamurthy are on the entrance arch. Balipeedam and Rishabam are after the entrance arch. Moolavar is of Swayambhu. In koshtam Agasthiyar, Vinayagar, Dakshinamurthy, Lingothbavar, Brahma and Durgai. In parakaram Nalvar, Vinayagar and Suriyan. Natarajar Sabha is in the maha mandapam. Ambal is in a separate sannadhi facing west. There are two Ambal Sannadhis in this temple. Sri Parvatharajan puthiri is on the right side of the moolavar sannadhi and Sri Malayan Madanthai sannadhi is in the prakara. There is a separate sannadhi of Kalyana Sundarar and Parvati, who gave the kalyanakola darshan to the sage Agasthiyar.

ARCHITECTURE

The temple consists of sanctum sanctorum, antarala, and artha mandapam. An eka tala vesara vimana is over the sanctum. It is believed that the Vimana is one of the biggest Vimanas in South India. On the base of the sanctum bas-reliefs of the epic Ramayana story are worth watching.

HISTORY AND INSCRIPTIONS

Since Thirugnanasambandar has sung in praise of Lord Shiva of this temple, the original temple existed before the 7th Century. Later the temple was reconstructed as a stone temple during the Chozha period and extended during the Vijayanagara period. The inscriptions recorded from this temple belong to Chozha Kings, Rajaraja, Kulothunga Chozha, and Vijayanagara King Krishna Devaraya. As per the inscription, this place was in Jayankonda Chozha Valanattu Akkur Nattu Brahmadeya Nanipalli. Vijayanagara period Saka 1439 ie 1517 CE inscription records the order issued by Krishnadevaraya records his meikeerthi and tax exempted to some of the Village temples. Kulothunga period inscription records that 10 veli lands in front of Thalachangadu Vishnu temples, as archana bogam to the Thirugnanasambandar Nallur Vinayagar. Rajendra period inscriptions record the gift of lands to celebrate Rishaba Vahanam and Natarajar. The lands were gifted for Brahmins' feeding and later the donors died due to self-immolation in a fire due to a land quarrel. 200 Kasu was gifted for making 4 idols of them.

PREDICTION FOR THIS WEEK

Secrets of the unmatched poem discovered

This very point has been fixed in the mind of the general public that Shri Krishna narrated the knowledge of the Gitato Arjuna in the battlefield of the Mahabharata at the end of the Copper Age. From the spiritual and historical viewpoint, who, to whom, when, where and how was the Gita narrated, all these questions are controversial. Swami Vivekananda also said: how is it possible to have such a long discussion over the topics of knowledge, bhakti, yoga etc. on the battlefield, where huge armies are absolutely ready to fight? ([Book named] 'Vivekananda in Bharat', pg.314-315)

Mahabharata is such a violent battle which has no historical proof. There is no date of birth of its characters. There is no proof of the Mahabharata in the world famous Greece, Mesopotamia, Indus Valley and Harappa civilizations which are 5000 years old. There is no mention of these civilizations in the epic Mahabharata either. There is no correlation between the two incidents that occurred at the same time. Then, how can the battle of the Mahabharata be called history? Something which has occurred in reality is history. Mahabharata isn't history, however it isn't untrue either. Rather, it is a mythological book. Mythological stories are those imaginations of poets whose meaning ordinary human beings can't understand.

Arjuna, the great hero of the Mahabharat war, became afraid of the dilemmas of the battlefield and was disappointed with [his] life and the Kshatriya (warrior) religion. Like Arjuna, we all are entangled in the problems of life to a greater or a lesser extent, because this life at the end of the Iron Age is also a battlefield. This is why today, a common man becomes confused when he finds himself entangled in the problems of his life. It means, he becomes foolish just with respect to Put your thinking cap on!!

The most surprising fact is that in the entire Mahabharata, whenever Krishna has said anything to anyone, it has been clearly mentioned with the names 'Krishna uvaac', 'Vasudev babhaashe', 'Keshava kathayati' and when the topic of the Gita is raised, instead of saying 'Krishna uvaac' it has been said 'Shri Bhagwanuvaac'. Not just this, in the discussion between the devotee Narayan and Shiva Rudra as well, the words of Rudra have been called 'Shri Bhagwanuvaac'. It becomes clear through this that whenever Maharishi Vyas has said Shri Bhagwanuvaac, the Supreme Soul Shiva Rudra alone was clearly in his intellect and not His worshipper Shri Krishna or Narayan.

what he should do [and] what he shouldn't. And instead of fighting with the problems of life, he starts running away from them. But running away from the problems isn't the solution to [those] problems. In order to solve those very problems, God is giving the knowledge of the Gita now. However, who is God of the Gita?

As such, the entire world believes in Shri Krishna as the giver of the knowledge of the Gita in the corporeal form. This is why, the question 'who is God of the Gita' seems to be a bit strange. Nevertheless, is Shri Krishna God of the Gita in reality? Did Shri Krishna himself give the knowledge of the Shrimad Bhagavad Gita to the entire world? Or is it a great mistake to consider Shri Krishna the giver of the knowledge of the Gita?

Now, let us try to understand this topic as well. The author is solely responsible for this article. The publisher or editor are not responsible.

Entry is free for children; adults pay 200 rupees. The kites will be flown daily from 3:00 PM. After 7:00 PM, LED-lit, glittering kites will be flown.

They will be operated depending on wind speed and weather conditions. Visitors will be allowed from 3:00 PM to 9:00 PM.

A Solemn Tribute

With profound sorrow and deep respect, Velammal Vidyalaya, Karambakkam held a solemn tribute to honor the innocent lives lost in the recent terror attack in Jammu & Kashmir.

During a heartfelt condolence assembly on campus, students, teachers, and administrators gathered to express their grief. A two-minute silence was observed in memory of the departed souls, accompanied by silent prayers and reflection.

A candlelight ceremony followed, symbolizing not only collective mourning but also a shared hope for peace, unity, and resilience in the face of tragedy.

Dumping garbage must stop

Dumping of garbage is rampant on Chakrapani Street, West Mambalam. Heaps of garbage are dumped on the road in residential areas and are not removed for many weeks now, residents complain. In the absence of bins, residents dump the waste on roads. In areas where there is inadequate waste management infrastructure, such as the absence of proper garbage bins or collection services, people may resort to dumping waste on roads as a convenient but irresponsible solution.

Some individuals may not be fully aware of the environmental and health hazards associated with improper waste disposal. Educating communities about the importance of proper waste management can help address this issue, says Vimala an Environmentalist. Weak enforcement of environmental regulations and inadequate penalties for illegal dumping can contribute to the persistence of this behaviour, she added.

Some individuals may engage in littering and dumping due to a lack of environmental consciousness or a general indifference toward community cleanliness. If waste collection services are inefficient or irregular, residents may resort to improper disposal methods, she complained. Trash containing organic waste will promote the growth of spoilage bacteria, yeast and mold, releasing chemical odours produced by the decomposing waste or by the microbes breaking them down.

These spoilage microbes are common to all organic waste, so they end up smelling very similar, complains Manian, a long time resident. Timely removal of such waste is the key to reducing breeding of mosquitoes and curbing the spread of dengue infections, says Dr Manoharan. The dengue virus is spread by Aedes mosquitoes, which breed in stagnant freshwater. Even a spoonful of freshwater is enough for an Aedes mosquito to lay eggs. This is the time to launch an all-out effort to destroy mosquito-breeding sites. This will yield positive results and lead to a decline in the mosquito population, he added.

Central metro to get a permanent book park

A large permanent book park is set to open at the Chennai Central Metro Station by the end of April, Metro Railway officials announced.

As metro trains play a crucial role in easing traffic congestion in Chennai, the Metro Railway administration continues to introduce initiatives aimed at enhancing passenger facilities and increasing footfall.

As part of these efforts, a permanent book park will be established in the subway area of Chennai Central Metro Station, catering to book lovers across the city.

According to Metro officials, the book park will feature over 50 publishers and booksellers showcasing a wide variety of titles. The facility will include 70 bookshelves, reading tables with comfortable seating, and a cafeteria to create a relaxed reading atmosphere. Additionally, books will be sold at a 10% discount, and popular titles from well-known publishers will be available.
