Sarguna Nathar Temple, Idumbavanam

This is the 225th Thevaram Paadal Petra Shiva Sthalam and the 108th Shiva Sthalam on the south side of the River Kaveri in Chozha Nadu. This place maintains the same name as Idumbavanam from the Thevaram period.

In Periyapuram, Sekkizhar records that Thirugnanasambandar came to this temple after worshipping Lord Shiva of Kadikulam. Thirugnanasambandar and Vallalar have sung hymns in praise of Lord Shiva of this temple.

Moolavar : Sri Sarguneswarar, Sri Sarguna Nathar, Sri Manakola Nathar, Sri Kalyanewarar, Sri Idumbavanewarar. Consort : Sri Mangalavalli, Sri Mangala Nayaki, Sri Kalyaneswari. Some of the salient features of this temple are.....

The temple is facing east with a three-tier Rajagopuram and a mandapam. The temple tank is in front of the temple. Balipeedam, Dwajasthambam and Rishabam are in front of the Rajagopuram on the roadside. Lord Shiva with Parvati Kalyana kola image is on the back side of the moolavar. In the koshtam, Dakshinamurthy, Lingothbavar, Brahma, and Durgai. In the praharam, Suriyan, Agasthiyar, Idumbai, Vinayagar, Saneeswaran, Gajalakshmi, Murugan, Bhairavar, Nalvar, and Chandran. Thiagarajar is in a separate Sannadhi facing east. ARCHITECTURE Vinayagar is made of sea sponge. Ambal is in a separate sannadhi facing South. The temple consists of the sanctum sanctorum, antarala, and Artha mandapam. A 2-tala vesara vimanam is on the sanctum. Stucco images of Maha Vishnu and Brahma are with their consorts. HISTORY AND INSCRIPTIONS

Since Thirugnanasambandar has sung hymns in praise of Lord Shiva of this temple, the original temple might have existed before the 7th Century. Later, the same was reconstructed as a stone temple during the Chozha period and further extended/maintained by Nayakas and Nattukottai Nagarathars.

As per the Maratha Kings period, the inscription, they had gifted many things to this temple. A 16th to 17th Century fragment stone inscription, only a few words like Therkum, Maavadai, Pasuvaiyum, etc. are visible, and most of the inscription was found damaged. This may be for the gift of land to this temple.

LEGENDS

As per the legend, Idumban worshiped Lord Shiva of this temple. Since Idumban's sister Idumbai married Bhima, Viyasa Maharishi called this place "Idumbaikku Aru Seitha Ippathi. From this day onwards, it will be called Idumbavanam. Kundralur, a place near this temple, is the birthplace of Idumban. Lord Shiva gave the "Kalyana Kola" darshan to Agasthiyar, and idols of Lord Shiva and Parvati are at the back of the moolavar. Agasthiyar was asked to go to the south to balance the earth to balance it during Lord Shiva and Parvati's marriage at Mt. Kailash. As requested by the sage Agasthiyar, Lord Shiva gave his Kalyana Kola darshan at many places, and this is one of them.

This sthalam is one of the pithur moorthy sthalam. Hence, this place is very suitable for Pithur worship and Pariharam. A Brahmin was carrying his father's asthi to dissolve in the Ganga River after carrying out rituals at Kashi. On his way, he stayed here. His father came in his dream and advised the Brahmin to dissolve it here itself. The Brahmin carried out as advised by his father in his dream. Devotees in large numbers used to gather in this temple, especially on new moon days (amavasya) to do pithur pariharam.

Your Stars This Year

Aries : The week begins with too many small things asking for your attention at once. Family expectations, and unfinished work can make you restless, so slow down while driving, eat properly. The early days also bring warmer contact with neighbours, an old friend, or someone new who quickly feels familiar.

Taurus: Week opens with hard work, restless thoughts, and the feeling that progress is asking for more effort than usual. A younger sibling, colleague, or helpful junior can support you, and one brave decision may finally move a stuck matter forward. Money comes through work now, not wishful thinking.

Gemini: With warmth at home, sweeter speech, and better control over money. A family gathering, relative's visit, or simple evening indoors can lift your mood, and cancelling one unnecessary shopping plan. Short travel, extra work, or a bold decision can bring out.

Cancer: Monday may feel heavier than it deserves. Expenses, low spirits, travel worries, or one disappointing response can make you question the whole week too early. Don't. Keep the day quiet, spend carefully, and let prayer, routine, or familiar company settle your mind. Tuesday changes the picture quickly.

Leo: May feel heavier than usual. Work delays, irritation, and a restless mind can test your patience, so choose your words carefully and pay extra attention while commuting. Tuesday and Wednesday bring better results, stronger confidence, good news from children, and encouraging movement in money matters.

Virgo: Opens with charm, visitors, and plenty of conversation at home. Relatives, neighbours, or old family friends may disturb your schedule but bring warmth, useful news change of mood. Don't take every responsibility. Work results may take time, travel can leave you tired & money may disappear on transport, food orders, gadgets, or household extras before you.

Libra: Starts with a calmer heart and a stronger pull towards faith, family, and simple routines. A temple visit, prayer at home, or quiet time away from noise can do you real good. Children or younger family members also bring cheer. Tuesday and Wednesday improve work conditions, and influential people may notice your effort.

Scorpio: Work hurdles, small delays, and a restless mind may make ordinary problems look larger than they are. Drive carefully, speak carefully, and don't turn irritation. Tuesday is much better for earnings, luck, and encouraging news connected with children. Enjoy the improvement, but don't make a sudden promise.

Sagittarius: The week begins with movement around partnerships, marriage, legal work, or family support. A reply, meeting, or pending matter may finally begin shifting, but don't assume the first positive sign means everything is settled. Tuesday and Wednesday are more demanding.

Capricorn: Opening of the week asks for caution with your health, private plans, and office politics. May ask too many questions, or competition may become more obvious than usual. Keep important matters to yourself and don't waste energy answering every challenge.

Aquarius : With lively energy and a push to act on something you've been delaying. A study target, personal plan, or business choice can finally move, while a social invitation or family gathering adds warmth. Recognition may also come in the opening days. Keep private plans private, stay away from office gossip.

Pisces: Comfort around home and support from your mother, elders, or family. Repairs, furnishings, electronics, or another useful household purchase may come up, while an outing or family gathering adds some cheer. Spend thoughtfully because pleasure can quietly push the bill higher than planned. Strong for studies, office work, and business.

PREDICTION FOR THIS WEEK
13.09.2026 TO 19.09.2026

Adorn your life with the armour of humility

Humbleness is the special ornament of life. Humbleness should be contained in the mind, speech, words, relations and contacts in such a way that it is seen clearly. Humbleness itself is your greatness. Those who are truly elated will always be humble. Through their humility itself they will make everyone bow before them. A noble soul can become the giver of happiness. Arrogance doesn't let you become humble. If you aren't humble, there won't be success. When you yourself bow before others, it is then can you make others bow before you. If someone confronts you, give him the water of your affection; the fire will be extinguished with it. If you say, 'Why this?', 'Why this way?', you pour oil on it. You should always be wearing the dress of humility. This humility is an armour. You take this armour off. Where there is humility, there will certainly be affection and cooperation.

So, become humble in words. Whenever you speak, how should it be? Your respect and position shouldn't reflect in it. Humbleness in speech shouldn't decrease. Although you speak ordinary words, you think: 'you will surely have to say them' but if someone speaks with authority instead of speaking humbly, 5% of ego of the task and position is seen in them. Humbleness is the special adornment of life. Humbleness should be contained in the mind, speech, words, relationships in such a way that it clearly evident. It isn't bowing. Bowing at this time will turn into making others bow before you for many births. Many children say lightheartedly, 'should I always bow? The other person should also bow sometimes, shouldn't he?' But it isn't bowing. Actually, it is making even the Supreme Soul bow before you. If you bow at this time, the Supreme Soul Father will also lay His eyes on you. Let alone souls, even the Supreme Soul will bow in front of you! Humbleness makes you ego less automatically. You don't have to make the effort to become ego less. Humbleness creates a place of love for you in everyone's heart. Humbleness will make everyone give blessings to you from their mind. You will receive a lot of blessings. From being a lift in effort, blessings will become a rocket. A lift doesn't uplift as much as the blessings you receive from others will. Humbleness is such a thing. No matter how a person is – whether he is busy, whether he is cold-hearted, short tempered but humbleness will become the instrument in making you receive co-operation from everyone. Humbleness can make you adjust with others' nature. So, the person who becomes humble can adjust himself with everyone's nature. Because of being real gold, he has the speciality to mould himself.

The one who has affection for every soul, only he will be able to stay humble. If someone doesn't have affection, he can neither become merciful nor humble. This is why humility and then, the embodiment of power means the more there is humility, the more there will be mastership. If you have both, softness and strictness, you will be able to mould yourself in every situation. Everyone has to check if the weighing scales of their intellect stay balanced in both, softness and strictness. Extreme humility causes harm sometimes and extreme mastership also causes harm sometimes. This is why you need balance in both. The author is solely responsible for this article. Chennai eateries served notice for poor maintenance

Five restaurants in Kodambakkam Zone served with notices from the Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board (Metro Water) on Wednesday. It includes the areas Ashok Nagar and T Nagar surrounding. These restaurants have failed to properly maintain diaphragm chambers meant to prevent solid waste from entering sewer lines.

The action follows a surprise inspection carried out at 31 restaurants in the areas. During the inspection, officials found that the diaphragm chambers at five restaurants were not being properly maintained and issued notices to the establishments.

The Metro Water said maintaining the chambers is essential to prevent solid waste, including food waste, from entering sewer pipelines. Poor maintenance can result in frequent blockages in the sewerage network, leading to sewage overflow and stagnation. The inspection was conducted in the interest of public health and to ensure proper maintenance of the sewerage system, the board said.

Brain Tumours - Moving Past the Fear

A sudden, severe headache. An unexplained bout of morning nausea. For most, hearing the words "brain tumour" feels like an immediate death sentence. The mind jumps to the worst - case scenarios: cancer, paralysis, or a loss of self. But modern medical science paints a much more hopeful picture. A brain tumour diagnosis is not always cancer, and with today's highly advanced neurological treatments, it is a condition that can often be managed or completely cured.

Not Every Tumour is Cancer

A brain tumour is simply an abnormal growth of cells in or around the brain. While some are malignant (cancerous), many are completely benign. Though the exact cause for most tumours remains unknown, they are rarely hereditary. Even if someone in your family had one, it does not mean you will.

Watch for These Warning Signs

Do not panic over an occasional headache, but pay attention to persistent changes. Seek medical advice if you experience:

- Progressively worsening headaches, especially accompanied by morning vomiting.
- Unexplained weakness or numbness in an arm or leg.
- Difficulty speaking, walking, or maintaining balance.
- Noticeable changes in vision, memory, or personality.

Surgery is Not Always Mandatory

If a tumour is small, slow-growing, and asymptomatic, doctors may simply monitor it with periodic MRI scans. When surgery is required, the goal isn't always complete removal. To protect your quality of life, surgeons prioritize preserving critical brain functions over removing every single tumour cell.

Modern Surgery is Safer Than Ever

The fear of waking up paralysed or unable to speak after brain surgery is common, but modern technology has drastically reduced these risks. Today, neurosurgeons use advanced techniques like functional mapping, neuronavigation, and even "awake brain surgery" to actively monitor and protect areas of the brain controlling speech and movement during the operation. Depending on the tumour's biology, this may be followed by targeted radiotherapy or chemotherapy.

When to Seek Emergency Care

Do not wait for a scheduled appointment, call 1066 if you or a loved one experience:

- A first-ever seizure.
- Sudden weakness, loss of sensation, or loss of vision.
- Sudden difficulty speaking.
- A rapid deterioration in consciousness or behaviour.
- A severe, sudden headache with repeated vomiting.

Fever, Cough and Body Pain? Don't Ignore H1N1!

A sudden fever, troublesome cough and severe body pain may seem like an ordinary viral infection—but they could be signs of H1N1 influenza (swine flu). The good news is that H1N1 is usually manageable, and early recognition can help prevent serious complications.

H1N1 spreads mainly through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs, sneezes or talks. Typical symptoms include fever, cough, sore throat, running nose, headache, chills, body aches and extreme tiredness. Occasionally, vomiting or diarrhoea may occur.

Extra caution is required for young children, pregnant women, older adults and people with diabetes, heart or lung disease or weakened immunity, as they are more vulnerable to severe infection.

Watch for danger signs. Breathing difficulty, chest pain, bluish lips, confusion, persistent high fever or sudden worsening after initial improvement require prompt medical attention. Antiviral medicines such as oseltamivir may be advised for severe illness and high-risk patients.

Protection starts with simple measures: annual influenza vaccination, regular hand washing, cough etiquette, avoiding close contact when sick and appropriate mask use.

Don't Fear the Flu—Act Early!

Recognize the symptoms. Protect the vulnerable. Seek medical care early. A little awareness today can prevent a serious illness tomorrow.

WhatsApp tests animated emoji reactions on android

WhatsApp is testing a new feature that brings animation to emoji reactions, making responses to messages more engaging and dynamic.

The feature is currently available to a limited number of Android beta testers. When users long-press a message and select an emoji from the reaction tray, the emoji may appear with an animation instead of remaining static.

However, animated reactions are currently supported only for selected emoji. If the chosen emoji does not have an animated version, the reaction will appear as it normally does.

The animation plays once after the reaction is added and then stops. WhatsApp enables animated reactions by default for accounts that have access to the feature, but users can disable them through the relevant settings if they find the animations distracting.

Since WhatsApp is gradually rolling out the feature, its availability may vary between users, even when they are using the same beta version.

For now, animated emoji reactions remain limited to selected Android beta users, and it is not yet clear when the feature will be made widely available.

Two-wheelers occupied footpath on Arumbakkam bus stop irks pedestrians

Footpaths are belonged to pedestrians but its other way on Arumbakkam bus stop. People park their two wheelers haphazardly on footpath near the Megamart bus stop in Arumbakkam forcing people to walk along the road. Especially another reason is food delivery agents park the two wheelers and make the road more congested.

Whose online shopping office functions from Isana Tower near the bus stop. The parking facility at the tower is said to be inadequate to accommodate the vehicles of all employees.

One of the resident of Padmavathi Street, Varadhan, said that because of these parking we're forced to walk on the road, which is risky, particularly when traffic is heavy."

The encroachment has also affected bus operations too. The space available for buses to pick-up or drop-off passengers has reduced, with buses sometimes having to stop without sufficient space along the roadside. This has caused inconvenience to passengers boarding and alighting from buses.

The manager of Isana Tower said that the two-wheelers parked outside the building belonged to Zepto. "The company had initially sought parking space for 80 two-wheelers, but it increased to around 130, resulting in a shortage of parking space," he stated.

Separate parking spaces were allotted to other offices functioning in the building. "As the parking issue involving Zepto continued, the company has been advised to shift its office to another location. Zepto has informed the building management that it plans to move to another location within three months," he added.

The world's narrowest house - so many amenities in just 72 cm of space!

The Keret House, located in Warsaw, Poland, is considered one of the narrowest houses in the world due to its extremely narrow structure. The house was built using a space of just 72 cm wide between two buildings.

Its maximum width is 122 cm. Polish architect Jakub Szczesny designed this house with the idea of turning this unused narrow space into a useful living space. Amazing amenities. This house, which has an area of about 150 square feet, is designed to efficiently use every available cm of space.

This three-level house has essential amenities including an entrance area, small kitchen, sitting and dining area, bathroom, work area, and sleeping area.

Even in such a small space, facilities such as a shower, toilet, and storage space are included. Natural light is also provided inside the house through a skylight installed in the roof. This house is not directly accessible from the main road, and can only be reached via a narrow alley and stairs. This house was built for the Israeli writer Edgar Gered.

He uses it as a place to work and occasionally as a place to stay. The house was completed in October 2012 after about three years of construction. The Geret House is one of Warsaw's unique architectural landmarks.

This house is a great example of how even a seemingly useless space can be transformed into a useful space through good design.

ENCHROACHED HOUSES REMOVED : Kodambakkam Times highlighted the illegal occupation of temple land (Adhikesava Perumal Temple) by slum dwellers GCC removed and replaced them in another location.

Open EB boxes a death trap in waiting

Residents said that it is a frightening experience, especially during nights, as the road is often dark and the open EB boxes in Ramanathan Street, T Nagar could go unnoticed, leading the public to come in contact with live power cables.

'Some of these boxes are almost on the road, due to which pedestrians may get electrocuted. Hema one of the residents of Ramanathan Street says that we are scared because of this open electric box which is in high tension that to in dark it is not visible the EB should take necessary action to close the EB box without any delay. If any sudden spell of rain comes are a small leak could end up with a big mishap.
